

Toyota Boshoku (China) won the “2014 Most Innovative Companies Award in China”

Shanghai (China) 26th September, 2014 – Toyota Boshoku (China) Co., Ltd., the leading manufacturer of automobile interior systems, won the “2014 Most Innovative Companies Award in China”, sponsored by the Economic Observer magazine. It owed that our development and manufacturing in management and R&D was evaluated.

The “Most Innovative Companies Award in China” evaluates companies’ innovative behaviors in terms of seven aspects, strategy, global structure, leadership, culture, resource, product and social activity, to develop Chinese companies and explore the motive power of Chinese economic structure.

The “2014 Most Innovative Chinese Enterprise Summit Forum and Award Ceremony” was held in Beijing on September 24. Mr. Zhuang Zhiqiang, Vice President of Toyota Boshoku (China), received the award as a representative. (4th person from the left)

Award certificate which Toyota Boshoku (China) won

Toyota Boshoku group’s development in China has been taking place for nearly two decades. During this time, we have constructed strong structures of R&D, manufacturing and selling. In the future, Toyota Boshoku (China) will continue to keep working at innovative activities to contribute to the harmonious development of the Chinese economy and society.